

Post - Brexit shortages and history rhyming

CIB chairman Edward Spalton reflects on the current supply-side shortages from a historical perspective. Those quick to ascribe shortages to 'Brexit' should recall the experience of the 1900s, which serves as a timely reminder that just because one event follows another does not necessarily mean that one has caused the other.

